EDITOR HAAG SETS PHOTO DEADLINE; 125 GRADUATES DUE

February 25 Date for Graduates; Appointments Should Be Kept

Franciscan senior pictures will be taken Wednesday, February 25. Since several students failed to keep their picture appointments last term, there are approximately 125 senior photos to be taken on that day.

According to the production schedule of the Franciscan, the deadline for these pictures is this month. Mr. Daugherty, of Fisher Studios, is employed by high schools all this month except for this date, so the editors are forced to take all the sittings then.

NO PRIVATE PICTURES

Bessie Haag, editor, will not accept any pictures taken at the studio, due to the different background of such pictures. She requests that all seniors cooperate and keep their appointments since the national rating on yearbooks is partly based on the percentage of the graduates' portraits that are included in the book.

It is suggested that those students who will need placement pictures use prints from senior pictures, since both are taken by the same studio. The cost of the latter is 67 cents, and a special rate is given on prints if desired.

APPOINTMENTS

Tentative appointments will be made this coming week. Any graduating senior who has not received an appointment slip in his box by Wednesday, February 18, please notify Betty Pierce, Box 726.

These appointment slips must be returned immediately and the definite appointment made. The student will receive a card for his history at State in extra-curricular activities and other information, which he must bring, filled out, to his sitting. Please make every effort to keep your appointments promptly.

Blood Bank Speaker To Address Local Club

Stressing the value of a blood bank in time of war and emergency, Beta Pi Sigma will present Dr. John R. Upton, who will address the club next Wednesday, February 18, at 12:15 in Anderson Hall 207.

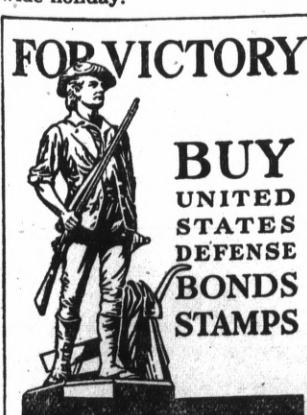

Dr. Upton is at present the chairman of the blood bank commission of the San Francisco Medical society. He will point out the ways and means of supplying the bank and also the various uses to which it may be put when needed.

All students are invited to attend the lecture and to bring any questions they may have on the subject.

'Abe' Responsible For School Siesta

Many students took time off from their busy enjoyment of yesterday's freedom to solemnly thank "Old Abe" for being born on February 12, and thereby causing a state holiday.

All classes were dismissed for the day, although studies were resumed again today. And a normal routine is now in force, while everyone breathlessly awaits February 22, which marks Washington's birthday and another statewide holiday.

New Freshmen Will Be Greeted At Reception

The date's all set, the place is all set and the time is all set, so all members of the Freshman class should prepare their best clothes and manners and get ready for the semi-annual Frosh reception, which will be held next Wednesday afternoon, February 18, at 3:30 in the Activities Room in College Hall.

All freshmen and transfer students will be invited to attend this informal reception. This will be an opportunity for the frosh and transfer students to meet the administrative officers and faculty of the college.

Through the medium of their Orientation classes, the class of 1946 will be invited en masse to the affair. Transfer students will be notified via their post office boxes. The invitations will be extended on Tuesday, February 17.

Chairman of the event will be Goldie Stewart, who has announced that the theme of the reception will be Valentine's day.

Dorothy Kuhn will handle the decorations and arrangements; Ruth Hayburn will be in charge of refreshments; Doris Coulter will arrange for publicity; Marjory Weber will extend invitations and Dorothy Wisecarver will be in charge of the hostesses.

Instructors in charge include Dr. Baxter Geeting, Miss Jessie Casebolt, Miss Eleanor Ely, Miss Alice Alcutt, Miss Bernice Van Gelder, and many others.

The bulletin board in the lower hall of College Hall will contain notices of new schedules of activities.

Also, any student or faculty members interested in air raid defense work will be able to obtain the following books in the library: Civil Air Defense, A. M. Prentiss, and Bombs and Bombing, W. Ley.

The call for volunteers willing to house out-of-town students overnight in event of an emergency finds a need for more offers.

If you are willing to permit one or more to stay at your home, kindly notify Miss Edna Bock at the College as to how many you can accommodate, how many nights and whether you prefer men or women. Mrs. Trapani or Mrs. Austin Rouse will also register your offer.

Dean of Men Urges Students to Adopt Service Slogan

Let me extend greetings to those of you who are so fortunate and far-sighted as to be in college during this particular semester. Conditions are serious, foreboding and the outlook is not bright. Such conditions cannot last forever and they will change for the better if serious effort is made to affect such change.

We must be united in our effort to improve ourselves, our school and our nation which needs our individual support and cooperation more than many of us realize. This can be done by resolving to put forth greater effort than ever before in accomplishing the tasks at hand.

Each and every one of us should do more than his share without being asked. We should adopt the slogan "Voluntary Service" in a united effort to "carry on" despite obstacles.

Become a part of the institution in fact and in spirit, take part in its life and its activities. The school will succeed or fail in direct proportion to the attitude and actions of those of us who have voluntarily cast our lot with it.

DAVID J. COX,
Dean of Men.

SUPPORT THE RED CROSS

Greetings

"America may demand of you years of your best service." With these somber words, President Roberts today greeted the members of the Class of 1946.

TO THE FRESHMEN:

The new semester has opened at a critical time in your lives. America may demand of you years of your best service.

The college is devoted to preparing you for the greatest contribution to your country in time of war and for a long life of successful service in the peace that will come some day.

We wish for you a quiet, happy and successful semester. We hope you will make new friends and many of them among the students and faculty of the college.

We are glad you are here.

"Quiz the Prof." On Campus Stage

Students of S. F. State will have an opportunity to participate in an actual broadcast when "Quiz the Prof." will be broadcast from the Frederic Burk auditorium Thursday, February 19, at 12 o'clock.

Columbia Broadcasting Company is sending Dick Ellers, their regular announcer, and also an engineer with his broadcasting equipment. The pros to be quizzed are Geeting, Witt-Diamond and Green.

Bob Sweeney and George Fenneman, assisted by Ed Roman as technical director, will be on hand to ask the questions. Music and questions will be furnished by the students of State and all members in the audience will be asked to participate.

"Quiz the Prof." has been broadcast from Station KQW for the last month and this time marks the first time that it will be broadcast on a commercial basis.

HIGHLY ACCREDITED

San Francisco State College is fully accredited by the Northwest Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, and by the American Association of Teachers Colleges.

Honolulu Attack Film Screened; Firemen Invited

For the benefit of students and faculty who desire enlightenment concerning defense activities and prominent places in the news, an audio-visual program will be offered during the month of February at noon, stated Mrs. Anna V. Dorris, geography instructor and chairman of the Defense Projects committee.

It will consist of a motion picture program. The first of the films will be shown today at 12:15 in Room 208, College Hall. They will include the following subjects: "Bombing of Pearl Harbor on December 7, President Roosevelt's Declaration of War" (a sound film); "Fighting the Fire Bomb" (produced by the Army department), and "Hawaiian Islands" (a color film).

Admission will be by ticket only and they are to be obtained from your fire captain.

Students may secure their tickets from Dean Cox or Mrs. Dorris. Those who cannot see the first showing are urged to attend a second showing of the films at 1 o'clock in the Frederic Burk auditorium.

Novice Editors Pilot Gater In Spring Quarter

With just three veteran editors returning to active duty, the Golden Gater will be run by a new regime this semester. Jack Lynch has returned as Editor-in-Chief.

Acting as his segundo is Louis Repetto, who steps into the managing editorship, being promoted from sports editor.

The job of providing Gater readers with lively and interesting material will go to Louise Winter and Richard Wallace as feature editor and assistant feature boss, respectively.

.... It has been a well-known fact that the most avid readers of the Gater have been the athletic minded people located on the rail by the Upper Field. The task of pleasing these "rail-birds" will fall on the shoulders of "Scoop" Scholten, sports editor, and Terry Kilpatrick, assistant sports chief.

John Thomas will handle the finances as business manager, while Josephine Damon will step into the advertising manager spot.

There are two libraries located on the campus. One is located on the lower floor of College Hall and the other is found in Frederic Burk.

NEW REGISTRATION FIGURES SHOW LAG IN SPRING SIGN-UP

Schutz, Pivnick & Co. Gloomy; Student Body Card Sales Drop

Decrease in enrollment for the spring quarter because of the national defense effort did not seriously cut into student body enrollments, it was announced today. A loss of slightly more than two hundred students, lowering the total enrollment to 1467, was looked upon as encouraging, according to Miss Florence Vance, registrar.

DEFENSE DEMANDS

That the war conditions have left a marked effect on the student body is seen by the enrollment figures of previous semesters. Students attending in the fall term of 1940 equalled 2027, while the number registered in the spring of 1941 added up to 1930. Among those 49 students were limited and three were nonresidents. Last semester student body members comprised 1669.

With enrollments down in all colleges and universities, the loss of slightly more than two hundred students was not looked upon as serious by administration officials. Other colleges on the Pacific Coast showed an average decline of 15 per cent, an indication that S. F. State suffered only a normal loss, under the circumstances.

Possibility that late registrants might boost the total over the 1500 mark was noted by some observers.

CLASSES SMALLER

For the first time in many years, facilities for classes have been eased, and over-crowded lecture rooms are an exception rather than the rule as in former semesters. Instructors are facing classes of sufficient compactness to guarantee better personal instruction.

A marked stampede to classes in mathematics, physical sciences and other practical subjects occurred, because of the national emergency. Requirements of the Army and Navy increased the enrollment in classes which had formerly shown much lower figures.

STUDENT CARDS LAG

A sad commentary on the enrollment was revealed in the laxity with which students joined the student body. Student Manager Dave Schutz and Treasurer Issie Pivnick gloomily admitted the response to the student body card sales was not of avalanche proportions, though they held out the hope that the tardy ones would respond to a call for support.

"Art and the Camera" Topic of Discussion

Every student at State who is interested in photography is advised to attend a lecture to be given in Room 210, College Hall, on Monday, February 16, by Mr. Charles McNeary. He is a representative of the Eastman Kodak Co., and will talk on "Art and the Camera."

The Art Federation is very pleased to have Mr. McNeary for a lecture, and it urges everyone to attend, stated Dolores Garcia, the president.

Only Card Holders Will Receive Gater

Students at State who have not purchased student body cards will suffer the consequences as far as this publication is concerned, it has been announced by the Gater business office.

Because of a drastic cut in Gater funds, the number of copies have been reduced tremendously. Every copy distributed to students will be checked. For this reason student body cards have been printed with spaces for punching at the time the student receives a paper.

The Gater Presents . . .

Somewhat battered and bruised by the defense effort, as other campus activities have likewise suffered, the 1942 spring editions of the Gater open their publications with a shiny, brand new staff, but with the same determination to print as good a newspaper as possible.

The draft, the lure of big money in defense production and volunteers in the armed forces left the editorial sanctums of the Gater a little on the thin side. Ray Berns, former managing editor, joined the signal corps. "Affable" Jack Conway, former sports editor, is marking time until the Navy gives him the go-ahead to start sinking Jap tubs. Sherman Grant, moustachioed city editor, is waiting for a train ride to Fort Ord next week, and George Ruge, another ex-managing editor, has applied for duty with the Merchant Marine.

Taking the place of these aces of the journalism department, former assistants Louis Repetto, Paul Scholten, Terrence Michael "What round is it?" Kilpatrick, Dick Wallace and Louise Winter, are battling the terrors of the deadline.

The Editor and the English department, new sponsors of the Golder Gater, extend thanks to the retired editors, wishing them the best of luck in their new jobs. To the new editors—you have the green light to turn out a better, brighter paper.

Shame, Shame Student Body Cards Slow!

According to a last-minute check in the matter of student body cards, it would appear on the surface that there is a case of indifference of epidemic proportion prevailing on campus. A disappointing number of students have failed to join the student body during the recent enrollment period.

Now, there is no penalty for such a line of thought. Any one who does not join the student body is not looked upon as anti-social or anything of the kind. It is not compulsory. But, the fact remains, that for the benefits offered the owner of a student body card receives full value for his money. The social, athletic and all extra curricular activities stem directly from the student body funds.

In these times of extreme crisis it is well to consider the need for a high morale to offset the grim atmosphere and tense attitude of normal living. A need for unity is apparent. There is no better way to build that morale and unity than availing yourselves of the chance to improve your own personal morale by participating in college social, political and athletic activity. But, it can't be done without a student body card.

Go ahead. Buy a card today. After all, you won't even be able to condemn the Gater for incompetence, stupidity, carelessness, and general inanity if you don't have a student body card, because you can't get a Gater. Go on. Look at the fun you'll be missing.

Good Luck and Good Hunting!

We spoke above of the former editors of the Gater who have left, or will be leaving, to join various branches of the Army or Navy "for the duration." It would be uncourteous not to devote a paragraph or so to the rest of the boys on the campus who have done the same thing.

We don't intend to cheapen their actions by any wild and corny dissertation on the magnificence of their gesture. Most of them have left quietly, without any great fuss or stir, for a job a job that has to be done. Almost casually, carelessly, they answered when they were called. No histrionics or hysteria, a smile and a wise crack usually their good-bye.

But, they know what they're up against. They know the rest will answer as willingly when their turn comes. So, to all of them—Good luck and good hunting!

"The last war brought about the teaching of health and physical education in the schools. This war may bring about a new pattern of physical fitness for all of society. The startling and sometimes shocking findings of the medical boards should revolutionize our whole attitude toward physical fitness."—Dr. George M. Gloss, Louisiana State University. (From Assoc. Collegiate Press.)

THIS is of Howard Becker who isn't. That's the truth! Mr. Howard Becker, leader of the band now holding forth at the Hotel Claremont, was inducted into the army almost a month ago. The personable young man waving the baton is sax player and vocalist, Mac Harris.

This band, although six years old, is comparatively unheard of out here on the coast. So here is a brief outline of their past. All of the boys are from the Quaker state, and have been together a little over six years. After jobbing around for a couple of years they went on the road, playing one nighters, interspersed with longer engagements. The band is a cooperative . . . that is, all the members have an equal interest in the outfit.

Before coming here the boys played in Salt Lake City, where Uncle Sam pointed his finger at Becker and said: "I want you!" After Becker's exodus, Mac Harris took over the front.

There are twelve members to the band. In the brass section we find Eddie Heintzel and Clark Brown on the trumpet. Ralph Palmer handles the trombone and is the band's leading soloist. The reed section is composed of Alden McGrey or Dale Detweller (youngest in the clan, just reaching voting age), Phil Ford, and Charlie Heintzel. Bass slapper is Fritz Gehl; drummer, Bill Webber; and the 88 by Jimmy Scilency. Vocals are by Treasure Ford and Mae Harris.

Over the Footlights

By EARL ANDERSON

ONE of our rival institutions of learning did itself proud over the last weekend with a production of Eugene O'Neill's "Marco Millions."

"Marco Millions," written as a satire on American business methods, was originally produced by the Theater Guild in 1928, just before the financial crash. Thanks to its period, the Fourteenth century, its locale, Cathay and the Near East, it lends itself admirably to color and spectacle, and Stanford certainly gave it that with some of the most exquisite costumes that has ever been seen on a stage. Even if one couldn't understand all the philosophy, the many comic moments, the sheer beauty of costumes and lighting effects commanded interest.

One of the most notable features of an all around excellent production was the mastery shown in lighting effects. Scene changes were accomplished by suggesting differing locales with the aid of a moving piece in the back of the permanent set.

Marco Polo was played by Lisle Selby, an engaging young actor, with fine comedy technique. He resembles and has a very similar acting style to our own George Fenneman. Ellen Wylie was Kukachin, the Princess, and a very lovely one at that. Adolph Arias as Kublai Khan voiced much of the philosophy, and played his difficult role with authority. Jacques Poley played a girl you'd find on the streets of any city, and did a beautiful job. Most other members of the cast were equally good.

Only criticisms we might make are that the characters did not seem to age sufficiently, and that the speech on the part of some members of the cast might be improved somewhat.

A stickler for realism, when she plays a French woman, she speaks French, and so on down the line. If you have a smattering of a language it's fascinating to follow her word by word, and even if you do not understand the language, such is the eternal truth of her performance that you grasp the whole meaning even if you may miss a word. The opening night she spoke Italian, Russian, German and French, not to mention English and American.

Her programs vary at each performance, and you can't miss if you choose any of the programs. Chances are if you see her once you will want to go back and see her do a whole new series of equally fine sketches. It's hard to pick out which is her best sketch, they're all so good. There is one to suit everybody's taste, and odd is the person who doesn't leave the theater praising them all.

STATE GRADUATE TELLS OF ARMY LIFE

Dear Dr. Michell-Parmely:

Truly, as I recall those happy and carefree days at State, it appears to me to be only yesterday!

There is quite a jump from a half-baked college student to an Army Air Corps officer. Yet, when we get right down to cold facts, I do not think that I have changed very much. However, my fellow officers claim that I have gained in weight. I think that they are right in their assumptions. Anyway, at this stage of the game, I do not think that is important.

PROFILE OF A "PIT"

The "Pit," that poor man's Greenwich Village in the basement of Frederic Burk, where the Golden Gater is printed, has heard the echo of many voices. Ken Bennett doing extracts from "Citizen Kane" (besides he looks like Orson) . . . Jack Conway walks in like Groucho Marx and then changes over to Gordon Mailloux at a noon dance . . . In the corner you hear "din, din, din, bring water Gunga Din." That's Terry (Kipling) Kilpatrick in one of his dialects . . . Smiling, silver-haired Jack Spann trying frantically to put a newspaper together amid all the confusion and babbles . . . Towing above all was George (Genius) Ruge, impersonating everyone from John Barrymore to Quasimodo.

This is only a cross-section of the voices that rang through the "Pit." There were many others. Many that performed in that talented circle are gone, perhaps forever, but the "Pit" lives on and there will be new voices.

Smooth boy, Edward Borup, is gone. He taught for a week in Room 202, Frederic Burk. The little kids liked him, the supervisors praised his work. Ed toiled seven years for that opportunity.

I liked him and so did everyone else that knew him. He was a square Joe. Why has he gone? He was a square Joe. Why has he gone? He was a square Joe. Why has he gone? He was a square Joe. Why has he gone?

Luigi's Libation...

By LUIGI REPETTO

Maybe it's a scheme to gain some unpaid publicity or else it is a rumor that has gone astray, but one of the current scandals going around the campus is the one concerning the abolishment of football from dear old State.

It seems that a certain bigwig of the soccer team made the ears of "Scoop" Scholten burn with eagerness when the biggie revealed some of the points of his "rejuvenation of championship hopes for San Francisco State" plan.

Among the suggestions offered were the following:

1 Let's abolish football and make soccer the major sport.

3 After all, football is just a minor sport where State athletics is concerned.

SCHOLTEN CONFESSES

After some Philo Vance investigating and giving Scholten a hot foot and the third degree we find that not only that certain biggie endorses the move but practically all of the shinkickers do, too.

Well, we can't say yes or no to this yet. Every fall Coach Richard V. Boyle sends out the call for athletes and what happens? Many of the boys responding to the call are soccer players. Take the case of hard hitting Werner Steinbach, varsity fullback, or take the cases of Johnny Tash and Paul Fritts, jayvee gridmen.

Another point in the football players' favor is the fact that the pigskin sport draws more fans than the sport of kicking one's ankles around does. I've yet to see a college, no matter how small, support a soccer crew with bands, card stunts, yell leaders and the like.

And so now that we have aired our dirty wash, let us proceed to more pleasant things.

STRIKES AND SPARES

According to communiqué issued by Ray Kaufman, director of Intramural sports, one of the most popular American sports has been left out. That sport, my friends, is the noble art of trying to make strikes and spares. We don't have any idea how the sport could be carried on as an intramural event, but we're sure it could be worked out and the several good bowlers on the campus could get a chance to display their wares.

A recent poll taken from 13 athletes reveals that the high scorer in the group is Bill Shinn, footballer, with a sweet 223 game. Carl Gustafson has a 179 high point match and is trailed by Leo Fredricksen, Norm Keller and Ed Dunn, who have scored 176, 165 and 160, respectively. Jack Flermer and Jim Haran, with scores of 122 and 120, round out the seven students who have bowled at least one game. Six other men in the group have yet to throw a ball down the alley.

TRIBUTE
Tribute must be paid to that basketball player's dream man, Billy Lee of Humboldt State. For two nights in a row Lee amazed the customers as he stole the show with brilliant high arching shots that were as clean as the pure white snow. From every part of the floor Lee let go and he seldom missed, much to the discomfort of S. F. State's casabateers.

Lee peppered the hoop for 26 points in the first encounter last Friday night, and almost repeated by tanking 23 in Saturday night's affair.

One of the grandest ovations we ever heard given to an athlete was the one accorded Billy (the kid) Lee when he fouled out in the second battle.

It can be safely said that with Lee out of the ball game many loyal Stater's heart took a turn towards par. Yep, we just gotta salute that guy Billy Lee.

HOWDY FROSH!

In closing, we of the Golden Gater sports staff would like to welcome all of the newcomers and some former old timers who are now gracing State's wooden portals. To all of you we wish the best of luck this semester.

Split San Jose Boxing Bout

After two practice meets with Stanford and the Berkeley Y. M. C. A., S. F. State's leather-eaters stepped into Class 1-A competition last Friday night when they took on the Spartan beat-busters in the San Jose Civic Auditorium before a packed house of four thousand blood hungry fight fans.

The meet ended in a draw. The Alligators lost two and won two.

Opening the brawls for the Buchanan bashers was State's slugging lightweight, Johnny Tash, who, though he put up the gamest fight of the evening, dropped the decision to a more experienced opponent. John's fighting heart just wasn't enough.

HAMMERIN' HARAN

In the second battle of the evening State's Spider Jimmy Haran, another lightweight, had the four thousand fans rolling in the aisles.

In case you haven't seen our Jimmy, he stands 6 feet 2 inches, weighing 135 pounds. His opponent, a little chocolate drop, stood 4 feet 11 inches, and weighed the same. An when dat lil' fellah looked way up dar at Jim, he jus' turn roun' and say, "What's dis?"

Jim was a bit wary the first round, the second round his confidence came back to him, and in the third Jim started to fight, scoring again and again with rights to the head. Yes, slim Jim won.

The third brawl of the evening featured rosin - shoulders Kilpatrick, welterweight, who dropped a decision in a fast-stepping jabbing affair.

KID LAUGHING BOY

Belted Bill Paizis copped the nod over his opponent in the welterweight division. Bill would blast his opponent on the chin and they'd both laugh. Bill would get blasted and they'd both laugh again. Yes, really quite a laughing affair—black eyes, broken noses all.

Had State's undefeated middleweight, Ernie Leydecker, been able to fight, chances are the Alligators would have won the meet.

Which reminds us of that story about the dog.

GATERS FACE RENO QUINTET TONIGHT

Team Expects to Hash Wolves; Dinner at 8:00

Tonight in James Lick gym at 8 o'clock, San Francisco State's quintet faces the University of Nevada five. The Wolfpack has lost to St. Mary's, University of San Francisco and Cal. Aggies, but they will provide the Gaters with an interesting evening. Nevada is led by Bob O'Shaughnessy, stellar guard.

Tomorrow night the Gaters will meet the Wolfpack in Kesar pavilion in the final game of the series at 8.

Holders of student body cards will be admitted free. State's freshman team will play a preliminary game both nights, starting at 6:30.

"GUS"

An injured shoulder did little to hamper the smooth play last Saturday night of Carl Gustafson, mainstay at guard for Coach Dan Farmer's basketball squad.

BUY DEFENSE BONDS

"MALLET"

Still dropping them in for the State cagers is Emil Fanfelle, Ball-of-Fire Forward.

Frosh QuinTake Four

San Francisco State's freshmen, finally coming to life after a season long sleep, copped both games last weekend to run their winning streak to four consecutive games.

Friday night they defeated a willing and hopelessly outclassed Newman Club quintet of Berkeley, 29-24, and Saturday they squeezed past a hard fighting Balboa five, 30-25.

Cliff Nelson and Dave Braga played a brilliant floor game for the State five, which was a decisive factor in winning these games.

Losses to Service Recall B.C. Days Of Tide Teams

By KENNY YOUNG

If the army continues to beckon to State track men, Dean David J. Cox, venerable character builder, soon may have to wedge himself into the Call-Bulletin time capsule along with a track manual and a couple of dog biscuits. For the noble art of trotting around the oval clad only in a pair of purple scanties may be as extinct as the dodo bird in a few years.

As things stand now, track this season will be right back where it was B. C. (Before Cox). At that time, it is said, the cinder squad was composed of three music majors, a couple of P. E. women, and one janitor who looked young enough to pass as a student. The janitor worked out in the pole-vault, although many opponents claimed he shouldn't have been allowed to use his ladder.

DEAN COX ARRIVES

The Dean's coming to State, however, marked a complete change in the athletic setup. Rumors have it that the Dean was an iron man in college, starring in more than three events. But the Dean is too modest to admit it. When asked, the Dean just giggles and says, "Oh, pshaw, I was not!" But don't let him fool you. He really was, and he has just oodles of medals to prove it, too.

After surveying State's prospects, the Dean leaped to his work briskly and efficiently. Roberts Field was purchased. New uniforms were purchased (well, almost new). And soon better athletes appeared on the campus to take over where the janitor left off.

MARS STEPS IN

Now, after all the work the Dean has put in to develop a full-sized track team at State, the war has come along to destroy all the fruits of his efforts. Left to the squad for this season, as far as can be estimated, are only two outstanding stars, James Haran, lanky two-miler, and "Wee Willie" Stein, burly shot-putter.

Has anybody seen the janitor around during the last few weeks?

Timbermen Trampled 59-54, 54-48, in Two Closely Fought Duels

By AIME HOURCADE

San Francisco State's speedy quintet outsped the Humboldt State Lumberjacks to take both games last weekend by scores of 59-54 and 54-48.

Friday night's game which was played at James Lick gym saw the Gaters come from behind to win. Led by Bill Lee, a bundle of dynamite in basketball shoes, Humboldt took an early lead and maintained it until the half which ended with the score 31 to 30. During the latter part of this half the Gaters lost Jim Keating, steady guard, via the foul route. Keating was replaced by Jack Byrne, a freshman sensation, who was later to play a major role in the Gater victory.

McCARTY LEADS GATERS

San Francisco State moved fast to open the second half and take a 34 to 31 lead. Again the unstoppable Lee tied the score, but Tom McCarty and Emil Fanfelle hit the bucket and the Gaters went into a lead which they never relinquished.

"Rod" Belcher, Humboldt's rebounding guard, left the game on Friday night, sent one swishing through to open the scoring and give the Gaters a lead which they never relinquished. Led by McCarty, Keller and Keating, San Francisco State sped up and down the pavilion to lead, 33 to 25, at the intermission. Humboldt was kept in the ball game during this half by Bill Lee.

HUMBOLDT LOSES LEE

The second half was played on even terms until Humboldt closed the gap to four points. At this point Lee committed his fourth foul and the Lumberjack's hopes were dashed. As Lee left the game he was given a tremendous ovation by the crowd. With tricky Emil Fanfelle leading the way, the Gaters kept the ball away from Humboldt until the final gun.

LEE AGAIN LEADS

STUDENT TEACHERS START TRAINING; FACULTY IS PLEASED

February 2, 1942, was a red letter day for some 90 new student teachers as they entered their first period of teacher training in the Frederic Burk training school.

While most of the State collegians were vacationing, these novices, who have received preliminary experience in Education 130, started out on the first rung of the teaching ladder.

"The faculty group is very pleased with the way these young men and women started out," said Mrs. Grace Leathurby, principal of Frederic Burk.

"When the children came back to school it seemed as if they had come back to their old teachers instead of returning to the new teachers. Their courses of studies were well planned and the rooms were expertly decorated," explained Mrs. Leathurby.

There are four student teachers assigned to each class room and two are on duty at the same time. These two teachers have full responsibility during the time they are in the class room. They plan the curriculum and the various recreations for the children.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION

Administration of the school falls into the hands of three committees composed of representatives of the teachers. These committees are:

1 Relationship committee, which conducts relations between the teacher and the parents, teachers, supervisors and the children.

2 Health committee, which is responsible for the well-being of the child, supervises the curriculum, takes care of the nurse's room and of the cleanliness and beauty of the school.

3 Safety committee, which is responsible for the carrying out of fire drills, air-raid drills, safety on the playfield, supervision of the traffic boys and establishing safety measures in the class room.

PROBLEMS SOLVED

The committees meet once a week with Principal Leathurby and discuss the various problems confronting them and make suggestions or solutions to the problems. Thus the school is run democratically.

When the student teacher finishes one semester at the training school he goes out to various bay area schools to carry on his training. If the student is working for an extra credential, he spends a third semester in a junior or senior high school.

"We have received very fine recommendations from many superintendents of schools and employment officials. These officers have told us that our graduates are well-trained, courteous, and that they can be readily adapted to the different types of communities where they are placed," closed Mrs. Leathurby.

Casebolt Promises Noontime Programs For Student Body

"Noontime programs will be presented to the student body by the Defense Council," stated Miss Jessie Casebolt, head of the dramatics department today.

These programs will consist of plays, pantomimes and stock monologues. They will be presented to the student body and if they prove to be successful, the council will offer these programs to the Civilian Defense council to be distributed to the army camps, hospitals, etc.

Some of the plays that will be presented are: Letters; Suppressed Desires; Spring; Devil on Stilts; The Boor and Women of Judgment.

Next Friday the council will present their first program to the student body. This program will be given at noon in Annex B2.

Tryouts for these programs are open to the entire school. Everyone is welcome to participate. The nucleus of these programs are the following defense council members: Hester Anderson, Marian Androvich, Tomi Angelos, Rita Balbi, Stuart Bennett, Lillian Cabedo, Dorothy Eskesen, Imelda Dillard, Ruth Feathers, Nadja Fenck, Robert Jenkins, Maximaie Morris, Vivian Silva, John Tilden, Julie Wessenberg, Dorothy Wise-carver, Frances Young and Basil Pritchard.

Franciscaneers To Broadcast Play Over Station KSFO

"Three Strikes, You're Out," a radio production by the Franciscan Players, will be heard next week over Station KSFO as the first of a series of plays to be broadcast at 7:00 every Monday night, it was announced by Dr. Baxter M. Geeting today.

Rehearsals already have begun by the Franciscan Players, who plan to present a number of carefully-produced, half-hour plays, ranging from farcical comedies to documentary dramas.

The morale is very high here. "Keep 'em flying!"

Sincerely,
ARTHUR M. MONSEES,
2nd Lieut. Air Corps, Moffett Field, California.

'College Defenders' Radio Production, Tells Defense Efforts

Radio forges ahead at State with a new show "College Defenders" in place of "Quiz the Prof." On this program a group of students will be interviewed on their part in the defense effort. The broadcast will be over station KQW Saturday, February 14, at 2:45.

"College Defenders" will tell what colleges in general and San Francisco State in particular is doing to defeat the Axis," stated Dr. Baxter M. Geeting recently.

DRAMA SHOWS A new drama show will audition before Mr. Robert Dunn program, director of KSFO, Monday, February 16, at 4 p.m. George Fenneman and Bob Sweeney will be in charge of production. The talent will be conscripted from the Franciscan Players, an affiliate of the Radio Guild. Dr. Baxter M. Geeting will supervise the entire production.

INTERCOLLEGiate FORUM Opportunity for people to appear on the air is presented by the "Intercollegiate Forum" program, which is broadcast Sundays at 11:15 a.m. Anyone interested in radio may consult Dr. Baxter M. Geeting.

The State Board of Education, in 1937, authorized San Francisco State College to offer the Bachelor of Education degree and special secondary in art.

Ex Board Proceedings

The first regular meeting of the Executive Board for the Spring semester was called to order at 6:45 by President Jean Van Arsdale. Pat Gillick, Frank Gillis, Curt Buttles and Herb Simon were noted absent. David Hendry and Norman Crane have left school. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as corrected.

COMMUNICATIONS A letter was received from Fred Hanson and John Pichetto requesting insurance for the equipment in the photographic department.

A letter from Dean Ward requesting all hallways and entrances be made clear for emergencies and air raid drill practices.

A letter from Dean Ward stating that there would be no more N.Y.A. help devoted to Student Body work.

COUNCILS: SOCIAL ACTIVITIES Vi Nicoloff stressed the fact that all organizations should try to give a dance in the gym this semester, as the Student Body is not sponsoring all the dances in the previous semester.

MUSIC Bill Keseys has taken over Dick Gordon's place on the board. The Art and Music departments are working on plans for the new semester.

PUBLICATIONS Bert Alward has taken the place of John Pichetto on the board. Mr. Alward announced the members of the Publication Board, of which he is chairman.

SPeECH ARTS Julia Wessenberg announced that a new council has been formed.

ATHLETIC The stork has visited State. Or, rather, it has visited the wife of one of State's many employees.

Mrs. David Schutz, wife of the Director of Student Affairs and Publicity, David Schutz, presented her husband with a "bounding" baby boy last Saturday morning.

And so we know the reason why many students were seen with cigars on Saturday (and oh, how they suffered!).

OLD BUSINESS David Schutz read the complete report of Finance and Publicity for the Fall semester of 1941-42.

Since chairman of the standing committees have left college, it was decided that reports on the judicial, social and traditional committee be assigned to people already on the Executive Board.

DIRECTOR OF PUBLICITY AND STUDENT AFFAIRS David Schutz read the duties of the present Student Body business office.

OLD BUSINESS Holders of cards receive the student newspaper, the yearbook, admission to all games, dances, and other student events, as well as permission to participate in extra curricular activities. Buy a card immediately. ISSIE PIVNICK, Treasurer.

Graduates Already Holding Positions In Bay Area Towns

stated Mrs. Alma Downey, placement secretary.

"Twenty-four graduating students were placed in teaching positions before the last semester closed," she continued.

"Ordinarily, one doesn't expect teaching positions to develop in the middle of the year, but this year has been exceptional. Last year only five teaching positions were obtained before the semester ended."

Many neighboring cities have been calling for teachers, which is another interesting fact. This can be accounted for by the increased defense activities in the Bay area towns.

LIBERAL ARTS Liberal Arts and other credentialed students were placed in various non-teaching positions. Among those placed were: Josephine Myer, placed in the College Print Shop; Margaret McConnell, who is planning to enter defense work; Mark Luca, now with the art museum; Thomas Bennett, in defense work; Marie Beccas, who is a nurse; Genevieve Ellithorpe, with Standard Oil, and Vera Flowers was placed with the Recreation Department.

SIGMA PI SIGMA Sigma Pi Sigma fraternity begins a new semester of student activity Sunday night when the first meeting of the term will be held at the home of Tony Bacich, Jack Freeman, newly elected president, announced today.

Officers guiding the activities of the fraternity this semester are President Jack Freeman, Vice-President John Finn, Secretary Jack Fischer, Treasurer Joe Edelstein, and Custodian Archie Steinbach.

Plans are now being made for the selection of new members of the fraternity and the pledgeship they will have to serve before acceptance into the organization.

Sigmund Stern Locale for Sigma Gammas' Party

Sigmund Stern will be the scene of the first party for the members of Sigma Gamma Sigma this semester. The party will be given Wednesday evening, February 25, from 5 till 9, according to Frances Young, president.

Only club members are invited and admission will be 30 cents. Students under 21 must have written permission from their parents. Any member who wishes to go may sign his name on the sheet that will be posted on the club bulletin board today.

FUNCTION OF THE DEANS The Dean of Women and Dean of Men assist new students in obtaining suitable accommodations. All students living away from home must have boarding place approved by either the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.

President Roberts is a graduate of Iowa State Teachers' College. He received his Ph.D. at the University of Washington.
